

X Annual Conference

LATIN AMERICAN AND IBERIAN STUDIES, MARCH 18, 2023

Call for Papers

The Department of Language and Literature at Lee University cordially invites submissions for the X Annual Conference on Latin American and Iberian Studies on Saturday March 18th, 2022. This conference will bring together undergraduate and graduate students and professors from a wide variety of disciplines.

The conference focuses primarily on the languages, literatures, cultures, and education of Latin America and Spain; however, interdisciplinary submissions will also be accepted from related areas including Service Learning, Cross-Cultural Experiences, foreign language methodology, education, and others.

We will host a Culture, and Literature Showcase. Please note that this showcase is a smaller, walk-through poster session that will take place during the conference. You can also participate in the showcase with your poster sessions, video projects, etc.

We would like to invite students from local high schools to attend the conference along with our Lee students, teachers, and language professors. The high school students are also welcomed to participate in the showcase.

Please send a one-page abstract of approximately 250 words as an MS-Word document that clearly identifies the aim(s) of the paper, the rationale of the study, and finding (if applicable). by February 18nd, 2023. Include your name, institutional affiliation, and email address as well as a brief biography and any kind of technology needed. All presentations will have a 10-12 minute limit.

Abstracts and papers may be submitted in English, Portuguese, Spanish or French.

Papers co-authored by students and professors will be considered.

Registration fee:

- a) Graduate students and professors $45.
- b) Undergraduate students $25. This cost will include registration fee, light breakfast, and lunch.
