

Participation Rules for the LASA2022 Congress

Online Submission Deadline: September 9, 2021, 17:00 hrs, EDT.

Thank you for your interest in submitting a proposal for LASA2022: *Polarización socioambiental y rivalidad entre grandes potencias, taking place from May 5–8, 2022. When submitting proposals, please follow the six participation rules described below:

Rule 1: Participation limitation

- LASA2022 participants are limited to one paper per Congress, no exceptions. If a participant has submitted an individual proposal, she/he may not be added to a panel proposal as paper presenter. Additionally, if a participant is a co-author, that paper counts as his/her only paper.
- Participants can only have four active roles per Congress. Being an organizer or a contact person does not count towards these roles. The four active roles may take the form of:
 1. Paper presenter (in a panel)
 2. Presenter without paper (in a roundtable)
 3. Presenter without paper (in a workshop)
 4. Discussant (in a panel, workshop or roundtable)
 5. Chair (in a panel, workshop or roundtable)
 6. Travel Grantee
- Panel proposals must have a minimum of three and a maximum of five papers. Workshop and roundtable proposals must have a minimum of three presenters (without paper) and there is no maximum.
- Panels, workshops and roundtables should have at least one session organizer (maximum two) and one chair (maximum two). The discussant is not mandatory, but highly recommended. Only one discussant is allowed.
- The rules for the Section sessions are the same than for the regular sessions.
- Travel grant requests can only be sent by the participant requesting the grant and can only be given to individuals who have a paper accepted in the Congress.
- Members who received a travel grant for the in-person Congresses, LASA2018 in Barcelona or LASA2019 in Boston, do not qualify for funding for 2022. This includes candidates whose assigned grant was not used because they did not attend the Congress and did not cancel their participation, or because they canceled at the last moment eliminating the opportunity for another participant to receive the grant.
- Participants whose travel grant for LASA2020 was revoked after the transformation to a Virtual Congress, or who benefited from LASA's decision to cover 100% of the LASA2021 Virtual Congress registration fee may reapply for another grant for the next Congress LASA2022.

Rule 2: Membership requirement

The following rules are related specifically to the type of proposal:

- Individual submissions: The individual submitter and co-author(s) must be/become current LASA members in order to submit a proposal and travel grant request(s). Each co-author must send a separate travel grant request.
- Panel submissions: All participants in the panel must be/become current LASA members in order to be included in the proposal. All panelists, as LASA members, can submit their individual travel grant requests.
- Workshop or roundtable submissions: All participants must be current LASA members in order to be included in the proposal. No workshop or roundtable participants may request a travel grant unless they also have a paper in the Congress.
- Section submissions: All participants must be current LASA members and current members of the specific Section where they intend to participate. All paper presenters in a Section session, as LASA members, can submit their individual travel grant requests.

The deadline for renewing/obtaining LASA membership for proposal submission is September 9, 2021, 17:00 hrs, EDT. Please do not wait until the deadline to become a member, renew your membership or submit a proposal.

Rule 3: Congress preregistration

Once a proposal has been approved, all participants are required to register for the Congress. Please remember that registration is a separate and additional fee and is not included in the LASA membership.

Congress preregistration must take place before Friday, March 11, 2022, 17:00 hrs, EDT. If the participant does not register by this deadline, they may be removed from the program book. Additionally, sessions may be cancelled or changed due to insufficient paper presenters.

Rule 4: Paper delivery

As a paper presenter, you have two important obligations:

- To ensure that the members of your session, especially discussants, receive your paper in time to read it carefully prior to the meeting; and
- To submit your paper for the Congress proceedings. Note: Your paper should not be considered published because it is posted online.

Rule 5: Session schedule

The sessions will be scheduled between the morning of Thursday, May 5, until the end of the day on Sunday, May 8, 2022. Participants are expected to be available for presenting during this time. Please note that scheduling change requests cannot be honored.

Thank you for your interest in LASA2022!
